HAVE NO CLUES IN GUNS' THEFT, BANK ROBBERY

There are no clues, insofar as investigating officers are willing to divulge, in the $1,659.15 robbery of the Gettysburg News and Sporting Goods Store, Chambersburg St., and the $25,782 robbery of the Arendtsville National Bank.

The customary flood of rumors has been in circulation for some time but borough and state police and FBI agents, who are investigating the bank robbery, are non-committal about them.

Carl E. Hennrich, special agent in charge of the FBI office in Philadelphia, would not comment on the report that James Nevin Keller, Chambersburg jail escapee, is under suspicion in the bank case. None of the investigating officers would comment on any of the rumors, would not say whether they had anyone under suspicion and all said they did not have any first hand clues.

One Local Suspect

Chief of Police Jack Bartlett said he had what he thought was one good lead but further investigation brought this to naught. The arrest of four men in a Hagertown robbery brought some reports of a possible connection with the sporting goods store robbery but this proved erroneous.

One Gettysburg suspect is being sought, Bartlett said, for questioning. The local officer said he had been loitering around Gettysburg and disappeared about the time of the robbery. His whereabouts are not known. Police in 13 states have been alerted and special notices have gone to Chiefs of Police in several large cities.

The name, caliber, model number and serial number and the cost of the guns stolen from the sporting goods store were made public today and are published on Page 4.

ANNUAL SEAL SALE BEGUN BY TB SOCIETY

The Adams County Tuberculosis Society has launched its annual appeal for funds by mailing sheets of Christmas seals to approximately 6,500 organizations and individuals throughout Adams County.

The accompanying letter, signed by the society's president, H. Thomas Pyle, says in part: "Your holiday giving include buying Christmas seals. Through your purchase of Christmas seals you help fight the disease which kills more people than all other infectious diseases combined. Your contributions help provide locally, in addition to milk, clothing and care for patients unable to provide for themselves, one of the principal aids in the control of tuberculosis — chest X-rays.

"Christmas seals cost so little, only $1 a sheet, yet do so much. Buy all you can — use all you buy."

Contributions are to be sent in envelopes that are provided in the seal letters to Miss Helen Spangler, 18 Chambersburg St., the executive secretary of the society. Checks are to be made payable to Miss Elizabeth Evans, society treasurer.

Society records show that while more seals and letters have been sent out this year than ever before, the receipts from the 1955 seal sale in Adams County also set a new mark at $3,667.70.

Miss Spangler said today that while the seal letters were being delivered in some parts of the county Friday and today, the first 1956 seal sale donations were being received by her.

Mementos Of Nov. 19, 1863 Are Sent Here

Six faded blue handbills announcing the official program for the dedication of the Gettysburg National Cemetery 93 years ago have been discovered in a library closet at Lehigh University at Bethlehem.

Librarian James D. Mack said one of the handbills bearing the order of the procession for November 19, 1863, and the "programme of Arrangements and Order of Exercises for the Inauguration" of the cemetery, has been sent to President Eisenhower for his Gettysburg home library. Another of the old handbills has been presented to the Gettysburg College library.

The collector's items were found by Mack as he was cleaning and rearranging materials in a closet at the Lehigh library.

The official program listed as the orator of the day the Hon. Edward Everett. President Lincoln's part of the program was referred to as "Dedicatory Remarks by the President of the United States."

The light blue handbills were printed by Gideon and Pearson of Washington, D. C., and when given a single fold measured eight and three-eighths by five and one-quarter inches.

Reproductions of the historic handbills appear on Page 3 of today's edition of The Gettysburg Times.

MAN DRESSED LIKE WOMAN CUTS THROAT

A 33-year-old South Carolinian, dressed like a woman, pulled a pocketknife from a handbag at the bar at Lincoln Logs, five miles east of here on the Lincoln Highway, this morning about 2 o'clock and cut his throat "almost from ear to ear."

His condition today in the Warner Hospital was described as "satisfactory." The hospital lists a Cincinnati, O., address for Lau.

Identified by state police from the Gettysburg substation as James Lau, 33, 226 Denver St., Columbia, S. C., there was no explanation either of the attempt to take his life or of the fact that he was dressed in women's clothing.

Was On Second Visit

Lau was alone at the bar when he cut his throat but reports at Lincoln Logs were to the effect that the throat-slashing occurred on his second visit to the bar and that on an earlier trip he had been in the company of a man.

The bartender summoned proprietor Dan Greenawalt who checked Lau's bleeding until the Adams County ambulance arrived and he was rushed to the Warner Hospital. Police said they learned Lau was staying at a motel near the Lincoln Logs inn. Police also said they learned Lau's parents reside at 335 N. Oxford St. in York.

"Publishing a small paper is no picnic. If we print jokes people say we are silly; if we don't they say we are too serious."

"If we stick to the office all day, we ought to be out hunting things to write about; if we go out and try to hustle some news, we ought to be on the job in the office."

"If we don't accept contributions, we don't appreciate genius; if we print them, the paper is full of junk."

"If we edit the other fellow's story we are too critical; if we don't, we're asleep. If we clip things from other papers, we're too lazy to write them; if we don't, we're stuck with our own stuff."

"Now, like as not some guy will say we swiped this from some other paper . . . we did, and admit it. . . . We got it from The Star Valley (Afton) Wyoming Independent."

SERVICEMEN HELP GOP TO WIDEN MARGIN

President Eisenhower ran far ahead of the rest, to garner 99 of the votes cast, 95 military and four veterans' ballots. Stevenson had 25 votes.

Vote Against Amendment

The veterans made their count easy throughout. It was four votes for the Republican candidate and two for the Democrat for all offices.

The soldiers, sailors and veterans turned in 91 votes for Senator Duff, 33 for Clark.

The remainder of the vote follows: for Supreme Court judge, Jones 80; Cohen, 39; for Superior Court, Watkins, 81; Carr, 38; for auditor general, Charles C. Smith, 82; F. R. Smith, 36; for state treasurer, Kent, 81; Knox, 38; for congressman, Stauffer, 81; Quigley, 39; for state senator, Elliott, 79; McGee, 40; for assemblyman, Worley, 87; Sherk, 34. Cardinal Spellman's Address At Mt. St. Mary's Convocation

The following is the complete text of Francis Cardinal Spellman's address at the special convocation at Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Friday:

"Bishop McNamara, Monsignor Sheridan, Monsignor O'Donnell, Monsignor Hopkins who is representing my dear friend, Archbishop Keough, Father Kearney, brother priests, sisters, fellow alumni from Mt. St. Mary's and students of Mt. St. Mary's. My dear friends, first of all I want to say that after hearing the recital of the achievements of my predecessors and realizing that four out of six came from Mt. St. Mary's, I don't understand how it was possible for me to become an archbishop with that handicap. It was quite a hurdle to come from Massachusetts. The Holy Father must have given some sort of a dispensation hoping this defect would be remedied in the future. I'll be glad to tell the Holy Father now that I'm all right."

"I want to express my gratitude to the color guard from Fort Ritchie and the Glee Club directed by Father Shaum in my own name and in the name of all those who have enjoyed their singing."

"Alumnus Of Mount"
"Now as a full-fledged alumnus of Mt. St. Mary's I want to give an offering to your president to show my loyalty. It isn't a gift but a token of reverence to the great Mounttainers who have preceded me. No one knows, especially the younger generation, what New York owes to the Mountain."

"When I learned from Monsignor Sheridan the story of Archbishop Hughes I was deeply moved. In November 1818 John Hughes went to the president of the college, Father DuBois, and asked him to receive him there in any capacity in which he could be useful. But the college was too poor to receive him and there was only the garden. There was a vacancy there. Mt. St. Mary's is a garden in a very wonderful sense. I ask Monsignor Sheridan to receive this gift."

Insists On Speaking
"When I asked the vicar general of New York, Monsignor McGuire, if I could give a speech in order to allow me to say something in honor of my predecessors, he said, 'If you (Continued on Page 7)'

MOUNT RECEIVES SURPRISE GIFT FROM CARDINAL

His Eminence, Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, and recognized as the most distinguished and most beloved Catholic prelate in the country, literally "stole the show" at the special convocation in his honor at Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Friday.

A few minutes after he received the honorary Doctorate of Laws degree from the second oldest Catholic college in the United States, the highest ranking American Catholic completely surprised Monsignor John L. Sheridan, president of the Mount, his faculty, study body and the more than 2,000 persons at the convocation, by presenting the school with a check "of substantial amount."

He announced, in his opening remarks, that he wanted to present a gift to the school "in memory of my illustrious predecessors from the Mount who served the Archdiocese of New York."

Given Long Ovation

He stepped down from the small platform at the podium and walked half way across the rostrum to meet Monsignor Sheridan and hand him the envelope which contained the "gift." The large audience rose and applauded for several minutes and all the while Cardinal Spellman bowed and smiled and raised his right hand in a vain effort to stop the ovation. It was the highlight of one of the most significant milestones in the history of the Emmitsburg institution.

A light rain was falling when the cardinal arrived at the Mount Wednesday morning, but this failed to dampen the ardor of the faculty and students. The Memorial gymnasium was well filled long before the opening. Those in the academic procession assembled in the gymnasium and awaited the distinguished guest.

When the procession entered the main auditorium of the building the large audience stood. Cardinal Spellman was smiling and nodding to the assembled guests. He wore his brilliant cardinal colored robes, and his crucifix shone brightly.

Nuns In Audience

Two rows of the seats in front of the rostrum were occupied by Sisters of Charity from St. Joseph College. Seniors from the two schools, in cap and gown, were (Continued On Page 7)

Livingston had asked the court for mercy but Judge W. C. Sheely told him that he had shown "little mercy to your wife."

Mrs. Livingston said she had complained to her husband about his drinking and had threatened to leave him and said, "I say drinking was wrong but I don't think he should put me in blood like that." Mrs. Livingston was in a coma in the Warner Hospital and for some time her life was feared for. Programme of Arrangements and Order of Exercises
FOR THE INAUGURATION OF THE
NATIONAL CEMETERY AT GETTYSBURG,
ON THE 19TH OF NOVEMBER, 1863.

The military will form in Gettysburg at 9 o'clock a. m., on Carlisle street, north of the square, its right resting on the square, opposite McClellan's Hotel, under the direction of Major General Couch.

The State Marshals and Chief Marshal's aids will assemble in the public square at the same hour.

All civic bodies except the citizens of States will assemble, according to the foregoing printed programme, on York street at the same hour.

The delegation of Pennsylvania citizens will form on Chambersburg street, its right resting on the square, and the other citizen delegations, in their order, will form on the same street in rear of the Pennsylvania delegation.

The Marshals of the States are charged with the duty of forming their several delegations so that they will assume their appropriate positions when the main procession moves.

The head of the column will move at precisely 10 o'clock a. m.

The route will be up Baltimore street to the Emmittsburg road; thence to the junction of the Taneytown road; thence, by the latter road, to the Cemetery, where the military will form in line, as the General in command may order, for the purpose of saluting the President of the United States.

The military will then close up, and occupy the space on the left of the stand.

The civic procession will advance and occupy the area in front of the stand, the military leaving sufficient space between them and the line of graves for the civic procession to pass.

The ladies will occupy the right of the stand, and it is desirable that they be upon the ground as early as ten o'clock a. m.

The exercises will take place as soon as the military and civic bodies are in position, as follows:

"MY LOVING GOD"

My loving God I pray to you
... upon my bended knees
... grant me the strength to do your work ... and all my heartache ease ... lead me from paths of wickedness ... toward a righteous way ... I am a sinner needing help ... for many times I stray ... my loving God please fill my mind
... with only purest things
... touch my heart with tenderness
... and all the joy it brings ... oh charitable Master
... without Your guiding light
... my life would be a wasted thing ... a dark and dreary night ... and so I pray on bended knees ... answer my fervent plea ... my loving God I seek your aid ... to fashion heaven's key.

GETS 3 YEARS ON
FORGERY CHARGE

Paul Henry Trent, of near Emmittsburg, who used a worthless check allegedly stolen from his employer to start a bank account in Frederick on which he drew several forged checks, was given three years in the House of Correction for forgery by Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer in Frederick Thursday. Trent admitted his guilt.

Durward W. Kettels, who had been supervising Trent after a conviction against the man for larceny by trick in Adams County in 1954, said the defendant was accused of stealing $197 in addition to the worthless check from his employer, who lives just north of the Mason-Dixon line in Pennsylvania. Trent was out on parole after serving a portion of a one and a half to three-year term in Pennsylvania.

The probation officer was looking for Trent when Det. Sgt. Norman Dietz, Frederick, notified him the man had been arrested in Frederick on the forging of a number of small checks, using the name of his former employer, Eldon Fair. Trent told the officers he gave the

Firm U.S. Stand Against Reds
Bolsters Hopes In Middle East

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Western diplomats today hailed the firm U. S. stand against any intervention of Communist "volunteers" in Egypt as a stabilizing factor that might play a key role in keeping peace in the explosive Middle East.

Several delegates expressed belief the position outlined before the General Assembly last night by acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. would deter the Kremlin from taking an all-out "volunteer" step in the Suez Canal area.

"Open Houses" At Schools Successful

Several hundred parents of local school children participated in a program of planned visitations and open houses in the schools this week in observance of American Education Week. The program was formulated by the Gettysburg Parent-Teacher Association in cooperation with the local school authorities.

Two "Open Houses," one in the high school and one in the three elementary schools, drew large crowds of parents and guests. On Tuesday about 400 parents attended a "Visit the School Night" at the high school. Each parent followed his child's daily class schedule as part of the program. The three elementary schools held "Open House" Thursday evening when teachers greeted parents in classrooms from 7 until 9 o'clock.

A program of visitation was conducted in the elementary buildings of the Gettysburg Joint School System and attracted as many as 90 per cent of the parents in some classes, according to reports. Totally about 450 parents attended the individual classes.

stolen cash to a girl in Frederick, whose name he didn't know.

Tune In WGET, 1450 On Your Dial

Hoover served warning on the Soviet Union to keep its "volunteers" out of the Middle East or face U. N. opposition bolstered by U. S. might.

U. S. Backs U. N.

In his 23-minute statement of general policy in the 11th General Assembly, Hoover made plain the United States is throwing its support behind the U. N. at this crucial stage in the Middle East situation.

Hoover addressed the 79-nation body in place of acting Secretary of State Dulles.

He called on member states to cooperate with the U. N. in restoring Middle East peace and pledged full U. S. cooperation in working to that end.

"In the Middle East," Hoover said, "we welcome the statements of cooperation which have been made in response to the call of the United Nations to cease military operations, to withdraw armed forces, and to implement the United Nations force."

Suggest "Volunteers"

"There have, however, been suggestions of introducing so-called 'volunteers' into the Near East," he said. "Such action would be clearly contrary to the resolution passed Nov. 2, which was supported by 64 members of this assembly. It is the clear duty of all, including those who engaged in hostilities, to refrain from introducing forces into the area of recent hostilities, other than those of the United Nations emergency force."

If such violations occur, Hoover warned, the U. N. would have to act.

"President Eisenhower had announced," he added, "that the United States would fully support such action."

The assembly has decided to shelve general debate Monday to complete action on Cuba's resolution calling for a halt in the deportations of Hungarians. Hoover indicated the United States will support the demand.

Woman Hires Cab
For Long Journey

EAST ORANGE, N. J. (AP)—How would you like to get into a taxicab and blandly order, "Once around the United States?"

That, if effect, is what an elderly woman did here. She's going to pay a flat rate of $40 a day plus the driver's expenses as she goes to Florida, Denver, and other points.

The woman's name was withheld by the cab company. She had ordered "a careful driver who's respectful to a passenger" and one who wouldn't have to leave a wife and children. Charles Kamp of East Orange got the assignment. His wife is dead and his children are married.

CAN'T DESTROY
CANCER PILLS
FOR NINE DAYS

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The government must wait nine more days at least before it can destroy a half million pills seized at the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic in Portage, Pa., pending a possible appeal by the defense.

A U. S. District Court jury ruled Thursday in favor of the government which contended the pills were misbranded as effective in cancer treatment. Judge John L. Miller signed a formal order yesterday enabling the government to do away with the pills.

U. S. Food and Drug Administration agents confiscated the pills in a raid on the clinic March 25, 1955. The Hoxsey Clinic also must pay court costs and costs of storing the pills. This amounts to about $20,000.

Ask Injunction
Judge Miller is studying a government request for an injunction banning the Portage clinic from shipping or receiving the pills in interstate commerce. This would have the effect of limiting the clinic's business strictly to the state. To date, many of the clinic's patients have come from out of state.

In Washington, George P. Larrick, head of the Food and Drug Administration, said the jury verdict would not end the agency's attempts to eliminate what he called "the menace of this fake treatment."

"Cancer patients and their families who may be planning to try the Hoxsey treatment either at Dallas, Tex., or Portage, Pa., should acquaint themselves with the facts about it," Larrick said.

New den mother will soon be associated with the pack, and then the new Cubs will all go into her den. The parents of the new Cubs will be notified concerning the present assignments.

Preliminary plans were made for the annual blue and gold dinner to be held on Thursday, February 7, 6:30 p.m., at Rolling Acres Elementary School cafeteria. This will be a covered dish meal and family night will be observed. The awards ceremony will be held in connection with the affair. Stanley C. Rogers, Scout official, will be the guest speaker.

3 HANOVER HIGH
BOYS CHARGED

The Hanover School Board next Monday night at 9 o'clock will conduct hearings in the cases of three male students of the Eichelberger Senior High School against whom charges have been preferred by Ray W. Gray, principal of the school.

Each of the three students has been temporarily suspended from classes by Principal Gray and each of the boys faces expulsion from the school should the charges be sustained at the hearing or should they fail to appear before the board.

One of the students is charged with gross insubordination and fighting a teacher as the result of an incident which occurred in a classroom on Wednesday. The teacher, a male, suffered injuries which required medical attention. The two students facing charges are not connected with this incident and each is a separate case. Each is charged with insubordination, one being accused of willful disobedience and the other with open defiance of a teacher and impudence.

The state school code provides that before a pupil can be permanently expelled, the district board must hold a public hearing. This the Hanover board will now do on Monday night and the parents and the pupils charged will be notified to be on hand.

The charges were preferred in writing by Principal Gray and were received Thursday evening at the November meeting of the board which Mr. Gray attended.

FIRE DESTROYS
BIG BARN NEAR EMMITSBURG

Fire practically destroyed the large barn on the Regis R. Sanders farm about a half-mile east of Emmittsburg on Maryland Route 97 Wednesday night.

The owners said the barn was filled to the roof with hay, straw and feed. Considerable machinery was saved and all of the cows were turned free before the fire made too much headway.

All equipment and all available firemen from the Vigilant VFD at Emmittsburg answered the alarm. The equipment and many of the firemen remained on duty until early Thursday morning to keep the burning embers under control.

By an error in telephone directions, the Independent Hose Co., Frederick, engine was dispatched to Taneytown and returned to Frederick without locating the fire.

Save Pen, Milk House
A hog pen and milk house adjacent to the barn were reported saved as well as a new concrete block front recently placed on the barn. The structure housed about 35 cows with 18 milking stanchions installed.

Origin Not Known
The cause of the fire had not been determined. The firemen said the flames probably started from a short in the electrical system.

No estimate of the loss in dollars was immediately available. Firemen said estimates will probably exceed $10,000.

Members of the Sanders family were in the barn milking the herd about 5 o'clock, when one of the children on the outside noticed smoke seeping through the openings and ran in to report it to their father. Mr. Sanders turned the cattle out and starting removing the machinery while others summoned the firemen.

Message Garbled
Officials in Frederick said the person who reported the fire apparently said it was on the Taneytown road and the message was conveyed to the fire house giving the location of the fire as Taneytown.

State Police said a serious traffic snarl developed along Md. 97 in the vicinity of the fire and vehicles had to be detoured off the state highway for about an hour.

Today's Talk

BE KIND
I was reading of the example of a man that a friend of mine was writing about, and in that article he said: "He was the kindest man I ever met." What a wonderful tribute to any man! In these days when the love of money takes precedence over the homely virtues that are the backbone of all worth, just the art of being kind becomes something most outstanding.

Character's outstanding traits are the simple, everlasting ones of kindness, consideration, pleasantness, courage, fairness, selflessness, tolerance and patience, just to name a few of those traits that are familiar to us all.

The loud talkers, the boasters, and the showoff people are not the ones that we want to know and cherish as friends. They have no genuineness. Their sympathy and understanding is like skimmed milk — nothing warm and rich about it. We can forgive so much in other people so long as they are kind.

The art of kindness, in its highest form, was illustrated in the story of the Good Samaritan, as told in the Bible. Here was a man who had innocently fallen among thieves, was robbed, and left injured by the roadside. Most people passed him by, but not the Good Samaritan. He lifted him to his own beast and took him to an inn and paid for his temporary keep. That was superlative kindness! We have so many opportunities to show our kindness to others, but let most of them pass without rendering a kindness that might lift us to higher ground and a personal satisfaction that is beyond all other satisfactions. You never lose by going out of your way to do a kindness for someone else.

Just Folks

IT ISN'T SO EASY
It isn't so easy to smile
When troubles are heaped on your back,
When you are depressed all the while
And all of your future looks black.
It isn't so easy to grin
When you struggle along in despair,
But the things that are easy to win
Don't call for much fortitude rare.
And the things that are easy to do
Aren't worth very much after all,
It's the man who can smile when he's blue,
Who can grin when he's had a bad fall,
Who can give blow for blow with a smile
That the world cannot always keep down;
It's the difficult thing that's worth while,
That's why we don't value a frown.

It isn't so easy to smile
When troubles are coming your way,
But you'll find that the effort's worth while;
A stout heart will laugh at dismay.
It isn't so easy to grin
When you find that your plans have gone wrong,
But the man who can do it will win.
He cannot be edged for long.

Schmeltzer, executive director of the Keystone Building Contractor's Association, Harrisburg, representing the Roman Catholic faith, said: "America should never stop giving thanks for the founders of this great land never had in mind that we divorce God and country. We must always strive for the best in our community and country."

The third speaker was the Rev. William C. Karns, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, and a member of the Lions Club, who told the group: "We must treat all racial creeds as brothers, and men's hearts should be filled with love." In conclusion, the Rev. Mr. Karns reminded his audience of the conditions existing throughout the world today.

MERCURY DIPS TO NEW LOWS IN MANY SECTIONS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It was near zero weather in the snow-covered areas of the northern Midwest today and fresh batches of cold air spread into the eastern section of the country.

The leading edge of the cold air mass extended from Vermont southward through eastern Pennsylvania and southward through southern Alabama. The chill came after a couple of days of mild weather, with readings up to around 70 as far north as Philadelphia yesterday.

Temperatures plunged rapidly as the icy blasts moved eastward from the chilled Midwest region. Biggest drops were in the lower Great Lakes region and the eastern section of the Ohio Valley. Readings were mostly in the 20s and low 30s, about 30 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier.

Cold In Alabama
The cold air spread through Alabama, with temperatures around 15 degrees lower than yesterday morning. Continued cold forecast for New England and the South Atlantic Coast States.
The freezing weather continued in the middle and lower Mississippi Valley and it was colder in the State Dept. Denies Diplomatic Rumors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has termed "without foundation" reports that the Eisenhower administration has been unhappy about the quality of information sent in by American ambassadors in London and Paris just before the British-French attack on Egypt.

The department, saying it had noted these reports, put out a statement last night declaring that U. S. Ambassadors Winthrop Aldrich in London and Douglas Dillon in Paris "enjoy the full confidence of the secretary of state."

"They have worked tirelessly and effectively during this critical period," the statement said. "Any suggestion that the quality of their reporting has been questioned by the Department of State is without foundation."

Upper Great Lakes region, Duluth, Minn., hit by a foot of snow in the storm that struck the Rocky Mountain region, the plains and northern Midwest, reported near zero temperatures. Heaviest snow in the Midwest was some 25 inches in Ironwood, Mich.

Snow Or Rain
West of the Rockies, fair weather prevailed in the southwest desert region and most of California. But it was cloudy and colder with snow or rain from the north Pacific Coast eastward through the northern Rockies.

Early morning reports: New York 50 and cloudy; Chicago 23 and partly cloudy; Atlanta 47 and light rain; Miami 64 and clear; Dallas 31 and clear; Denver 28 and clear; Salt Lake City 36 and cloudy; Tucson 46 and clear; Los Angeles 60 and clear; Seattle 48 and clear; Springfield, Ill., 28 and clear; Lansing, Mich., 25 and clear.

During 1942 and 1943 Count Fleet won three races at Pimlico by a combined total of 43 lengths.

2 CONFESSIONS GIVEN TO JURY

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP) — The prosecution has put in evidence two of three signed confessions attributed to Angelo Lamacra in the kidnapping of Peter Weinberger, left abandoned to die.

Peter was 32 days old July 4 when he was snatched from his carriage on the terrace of his Westbury, N. Y., home. LaMarca was arrested in the case last Aug. 24 at his home in Plainview, N. Y. also on Long Island.

LaMarca, 31, a taxicab driver, is on trial for his life, charged with kidnapping and first-degree murder. His counsel has indicated he will plead innocent by reason of temporary insanity induced by personal money problems. Kidnap notes had demanded $2,000.

In court yesterday, Nassau County Dist. Atty. Frank A. Gulotta read LaMarca's first confession, made to the FBI about 14 hours after his arrest. This said in effect that he kidnapped Peter and the baby was left alive in bushes near a Long Island expressway the next day.

The second confession, given to Nassau County police, said an unnamed accomplice took the baby to his Brooklyn home overnight and, on July 5, abandoned the child. Starvation and the elements apparently killed the baby.

LaMarca listened to the reading of the confessions with head bowed, his eyes shut or staring at his tightly clasped hands.

Miami, Banned From Bowl Play, Tops Clemson; Games Today May Produce Upsets

By JIM KENSIL

The Associated Press Underdog lovers everywhere rooted hard today amid some college football situations made to order for upsets.

Miami's Hurricanes, still banned from bowl participation by NCAA edict, thumped the Clemson Tigers, a probable Orange Bowl eleven, 21-0 Friday night to protect a No. 8 national ranking. But the rest of the top ten rated in the latest Associated Press poll faced the usual Saturday afternoon hurdle, and there wasn't a shoo-in among the lot.

The Tennessee Volunteers, No. 1 by a slim two points, entertained twice-beaten Mississippi, the defending SEC champ and the top defensive team in the land.

Oklahoma, No. 2, had visitors from Missouri. The highly-rated Sooners were out to get that No. 1 rating, but the Tigers knew victory meant a possible Orange Bowl bid.

Gophers Host Spartans
Third-ranked Michigan State, a bowl ineligible like Oklahoma, was a juicy target for Minnesota still in the running for the Rose Bowl and no gridiron patsy, especially in Minneapolis.

Georgia Tech, cut to No. 4 after a defeat by Tennessee, was up against visiting Alabama, a traditional foe and one looking for that big win to make a season.

Texas AM, No. 5, figured to be rougher than ever after the NCAA handed it the same treatment as Miami and prevented the Aggies from going to the Cotton Bowl. But Rice, a Southwest Conference rival, provided the opposition and inter-league warfare in that country always calls for a pick 'em contest.

Sixth-ranked Ohio State and Iowa's No. 7 Hawkeyes banged heads at Iowa City. Ohio State, another bowl ineligible, was a must for a Hawkeye squad intent on a Rose Bowl appearance.

Syracuse, No. 9 and the best in the East, faced long-time rival Colgate and no pushover.

Michigan, twice a loser in Big Ten competition but still strong enough to be ranked 10th, had to whip Indiana to be kept in mind for the Rose Bowl. Whipping a Big Ten foe is no cinch.

Other key games pitted Yale against Princeton in a toss-up that would decide the Ivy League title and Oregon State against Idaho in which State looks to wrap up a Rose Bowl spot.

Sports In Brief

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—St. Joseph's College of Philadelphia today held its 10th straight Middle Atlantic States cross country championship.

Seven St. Joseph runners finished in the first 10 on the 4 1/2 mile Cedar Parkway course here yesterday. Earl Jefferson of La Salle set a new course record of 21:33, breaking the old mark of 21:42 set last year by St. Joseph's Joe Sloan.

St. Joseph's compiled a low score of 25. West Chester was second with 96 and Lehigh third with 103.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The annual sale of standardized horses wound up yesterday by establishing the highest average and the second highest gross in the 18-year history of the sale.

During five trading sessions, 847 head averaged $2,377 as against last year's record high of $2,291. The gross was $2,013,050, topped only by last year's $2,132,485 for 935 head.

GARDENA, Calif. (AP)—Billy Maxwell's 5-under-par 65 in the second half of the qualifying round made him one of the favorites today as the prize money play began in the $3,500 Gardena Valley Open golf tournament.

The Odessa, Tex., golfer carded 33-32 yesterday after three-putting the first hole. The day before Paul O'Leary, Bismarck, N.D., was low qualifier with a 64.

The low 80 scores in the two days of qualifying will play today and tomorrow.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Directors of the Buffalo baseball club have moved general manager John C. Sigmeier up to the position of executive vice president of the International League club.

Sigmeier, elected yesterday, resigned as Bison general manager to take the new job. The directors gave him and Bison president Reginald Taylor authority to hire a field manager and a new general manager.

Rabbi Moses Tendler of Yeshiva University is also a United States Public Health Service bacteriologist for research in Vitamin B-12 and hemoglobin. The latter two are for solving problems of anemia and leukemia.

MOUNTAINEERS WILL OPEN AT STEUBENVILLE

Coach Jim Phelan's Mt. St. Mary's College cagers will open a 22-game campaign on December 1 at Steubenville College, Steubenville, O. In addition the Mountaineers will return to the Quantico Marine tourney prior to Christmas vacation.

Phelan's 12-man squad has three starters from last year's Mason-Dixon championship squad in Jack Sullivan, Bert Sheing and Bill Williams. Jerry Bohlinger, another letterman, will probably begin at the pivot post. The fifth slot is still wide open with a flock of talented freshmen pushing last year's reserves for the opening spot.

Despite the loss of three talented back court operators who contributed 765 points to the Mountaineer cause and the rebounding of Tito Nanni who dropped out of school, Phelan is optimistic about his club's possibilities. The Mountie coach feels that he has better size than in the past plus good shooting and good speed. If the defense works out the Mountaineers expect to be contenders for their fourth straight conference crown.

Sullivan Key Man

Key man in the Mountaineer attack is senior Jack Sullivan, 6'4" forward who holds all the college and conference records. Bert Sheing, a surprise performer as a freshman, is expected to boost his game average and direct the Mountaineer attack. Bill Williams, 6'6" forward, both inside and outside, a good rebounder, and a fine defensive player. Bohlinger, 6'6", saw a lot of action last season but needs stronger scoring to hold his job.

At present two freshmen, 6'5" Bill Morse and 6'4" Jack Halloran have caught Phelan's eye with their board work and shooting. Morse shoots well from all over and has an exceptionally fine touch. Halloran is a bear under the boards and a good inside marksman.

The Mountaineers figure to have good bench strength. Mixed up in the dogfight for the fifth starting post are juniors Joe Sullivan and Tom Mullen, both of whom are good floormen and tough defensively. Both have demonstrated improved shooting and Sullivan's rebounding is also a factor. Tom Leonard, 6'5", shoots well but lacks experience. He has shown aggressiveness during practice sessions and at the moment appears to have the inside track for the fifth spot.

Fresh Hotties
Some highly touted freshmen prospects figure to take up the slack if the varsity performers falter. Jack Gunn and Jack Marshall are both fine outside shooters and smart floormen. With added experience they could move into starting jobs. Morse, despite his size, plays the back court as well as the inside spots and his shooting commands attention. Ed Galen, 6'3", is a good jump shooter and a fine rebounder.

Roughest part of the Mountaineer schedule is in December when the Mountaineers face Steubenville, St. Vincent's and St. Francis away from home before tangling Hofstra at Memorial Gym. With two weeks practice lost because of a special academic convocation, retreat and Thanksgiving holidays, Phelan is fearful that his squad will not be ready for early jousts with the tough non-conference foes. In addition, to handle his schedule with anything like the success he had in the past two seasons when he posted a 43-13 record, Phelan's frosh must jell quickly.

G. Mason Owlett Is In Hospital
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—G. Mason Owlett, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Assn., is in the Veterans' Hospital resting from what an associate described as a "stomach upset."

The aide said Owlett suffered the upset yesterday in his suite at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel and was "advised by his doctor to rest for a day or two in the hospital." The associate said Owlett went to the hospital "under his own power" and that the physician "does not believe the illness is serious."

Owlett, 64, spent around a month in the hospital last March following a heart attack. While recuperating at his Wellsboro home in Tioga County Owlett resigned as Republican national committeeman, a position he had held since 1936.

The Thundering Herd won the title in 1955 and in 1954 was co-champion with Mechanicsburg.

An intercepted pass by Ed Corbett opened the way for Carlisle's tying points late in the final period. Leo Beam going over from the 27. Marks plunged over for the point to knot the score at 13-13.

Middletown romped to an easy 46-7 victory at Waynesboro. It was the ninth win in 10 games for the Raiders. Waynesboro failed to win during the season.

Hanover crushed Chambersburg 40-7 to clinch fourth place in the standing.

Police Are Probing Cinders' Purchases

HARRISBURG (AP)—A state police official said yesterday an investigation is underway into the purchase of large amounts of cinders for state highways in Cambria County.

State Police Lt. Col. A. F. Dahlstrom said the probe was requested by State Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler, on the basis of charges that cinder deliveries far beyond normal needs have been made in the Johnstown area.

"We have sent a man out there to investigate. Of course we don't have a report as yet," Dahlstrom said.

Lawler was not available for comment.

JURY WARNED NOT TO TALK ABOUT TRIAL

NEW YORK (AP)—The presiding judge in the Victor Riesel case warned the jury yesterday not to discuss the trial proceedings.

After conferring in chambers with the wife and brother of one of the three defendants currently on trial in the acid blinding of the labor columnist, Federal Judge William B. Herlands told the jury of eight men and four women.

"I do not want to have this case miscarry," Herlands said his attention had been called to "an alleged incident" and he was advising the panel so as "not to have this case sidetracked or go off on some collateral matter."

He did not elaborate. Charged with conspiracy in the assault last April 5 on Riesel are Gondolfo (Shiek) Miranti, 38; Leo Telvi, 26; and Domenico (Nicky) Bando, 47.

Try 4 Others Later
Four others go on trial later, including John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi, alleged "mastermind" in the Riesel attack.

After the luncheon recess in the trial, Herlands talked privately with Bando's wife Florence and his brother Joseph. The judge then issued his warning to the jury.

It was believed the wife and brother reported they had overheard two jurors talking about the case.

On the stand yesterday for the third straight day was ex-convict Joseph Peter Carlinio, 43, who pleaded guilty in the case and has been testifying for the prosecution. Carlinio has named the late Abe Telvi as the acid thrower.

Carlinio says Abe Telvi received a total of $1,175 for the job, then demanded more money from "the high-ups" after learning the identity of his victim. Telvi was shot to death on a lower East Side street.

The counts were contained in seven bills that specifically charged misdemeanor in office and conspiracy.

Trial dates for the four will not be set until after hearings on motions to quash information against Miller and Carver are disposed of by County Court.

GAME SEASON OPENS NOV. 26

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania's big game hunting season begins in earnest Nov. 26 with the opening of the annual bear season.

The week-long bear season is expected to attract thousands of hunters into the state's mountains. It is the first short season since 1953.

In last year's two-week season the bear kill was 363 legal animals. Shortly after the close of the season, Dec. 1, the annual deer hunting season begins, Dec. 3 to Dec. 15.

Already this year there has been a special bow and arrow deer hunting season, Oct. 1 to Oct. 19. Last year Pennsylvania hunters killed more than 45,000 antlered deer—a boost of more than 4,000 over the previous season.

In the small game season, which opened Oct. 27 and ends Nov. 24, the commission has received reports of 10 hunter gun-shot fatalities and 294 gun shot woundings.

Bisons Blanked By Barons; Rookies Star

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Cleveland Barons were back in fourth place in the American Hockey League today, thanks to a pair of prize rookies, Boris (Bo) Elik and Marcel Paille.

Paille turned in the first shut-out of his professional career last night, blanking the Buffalo Bisons, 5-0, to snap Cleveland's five game losing streak.

Elik tallied the last two goals to take over the league scoring lead with 22 points, two more than Paul Larivee of the Providence Reds. Elik's 16 goals is also tops in the league.

Jimmy Moore assisted on both of the leftwinger's scores to increase his league-leading total to 15 in that department. Moore flipped in an unassisted goal earlier, his third.

The defeat left Buffalo in second place, still three points behind Hershey.

WILL EXPEDITE ADMISSION OF 5,000 REFUGEES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Walter (D-Pa.) says he's flying to Austria tomorrow to "help cut the red tape" so the first of 5,000 Hungarian refugees can gain quick admission to the United States.

Walter, chairman of the House Immigration Subcommittee, announced yesterday he would go with Immigration Commissioner Joseph M. Swing to aid in "expediting the speedy admission into the United States of a number of Hungarian refugees who fled . . . the Soviet blood bath."

Pierce Gerety, the State Department's deputy refugee relief chief, arranged to fly from New York today on a similar mission to Austria where an estimated 30,000 Hungarians are housed in temporary camps.

Ready Camp Kilmer
President Eisenhower has authorized the admission of 5,000 Hungarians who escaped from their homeland during its short-lived revolt against Russian domination.

Preparations are being made to receive the first of them at the Army's Camp Kilmer, N.J., possibly next week.

The McCarran-Walter Immigration Law contains strict regulations designed to keep out Communists and other undesirables. It requires thorough screening of applicants for immigration visas, a process that normally takes weeks at the least.

However, under emergency provisions of the law, Atty. Gen. Brownell may authorize some refugees, whose immigration eligibility is cloudy, to enter the United States under "parole" pending final determination of their status.

HAROLD CARTER WINS VERDICT TO UP RATING

By JACK HAND NEW YORK (AP)—If Harold Carter keeps on winning, they may have to revise his schedule that calls for a heavyweight title bout by 1958.

"We're in no hurry," said Gene Holmes, manager of the Linden, N.J., boxer after last night's unanimous decision over Young Jack Johnson. "Harold needs more experience. He's had only 25 fights and he's winning despite his mistakes." Carter has a 21-2 record.

Holmes said Carter, 22, found Johnson, a sub, tougher than he figured. "Harold was all ready mentally for Baker," said Holmes. "He would have handled him easier."

May Rematch Baker
Baker, once the top ranking heavyweight challenger, had to pull out Monday because of a heavy cold. The International Boxing Club now hopes to reschedule Carter-Baker for Madison Square Garden, Dec. 21. The match is uncertain pending a recheck of Baker's health and the right eye cut Carter received last night.

Johnson, whose real name is John Lee Storey, was exhausted after the Garden fight. He stretched out on a bench in his dressing room to take a few snorts from an oxygen tank under the supervision of Dr. Vincent Nardello of the New York State Athletic Commission.

Judge Artie Alda had it 9-1, Judge Bert Grant 8-2 and Referee Ruby Goldstein 6-3-1, all for Carter. The AP agreed 9-1. About 1,500 paid some $2,500 to see the nationally televised contest.

Deaths Mount In Cyprus This Month
Nicosia, Cyprus (AP)—November—little more than half gone—already has set a bloody new high for deaths blamed on the fight by Cypriot underground groups against British rule.

British officials report 28 persons killed on this Mediterranean island colony since midnight Oct. 31. That is three times higher than the toll in any preceding month in the 18-month campaign.

The British blame Eoka, the underground fighting arm of the Cypriot movement seeking to oust Britain and unite Cyprus with Greece.

TABLES TURNED
SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Althea Gibson turned the tables on Shirley Fry today.

Beaten by Miss Fry in the finals of the United States National Championships at Forest Hills in September, the New York miss trounced the Wimbledon champion 10-8, 6-2 to win the New South Wales women's singles tennis title.

COSTLY CHECK
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lawrence Gill ran when a grocery clerk refused to cash his check. He ducked into the stream of traffic on a busy thoroughfare, eating the $80 check as he ran, police said. A car hit him, breaking his leg. At Gill, 30, was booked on suspicion of forgery.

Farm Leaders Of County Took Stand On Tax Question, Heard State College Experts In 1921

(Editor's Note: The following installment is the second in a series to be published on the history of the Adams County Agricultural Extension Association in Adams County. The first appeared on Tuesday and the later sections will appear on succeeding Saturday Farm Pages of The Gettysburg Times.)

Oppose Daylight Time

February 18, 1921, the annual meeting of the Adams County Farm Bureau was held in the court room. Attorney J. L. Butt was elected president and "action opposing Daylight Saving was taken." The Farm Bureau went on record as opposing a vehicle tax on farm vehicles. Dr. E. L. Nixon of Pennsylvania State College spoke on potato diseases and insects and methods of control. Dr. H. H. Haver, livestock specialist, spoke on "swine and the advantages of communities within a county forming breeders' associations." The meeting then adjourned to the Eagle Hotel for a joint dinner with the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce at which Dr. C. G. Jordan, chairman of the agricultural committee of the "house of representatives at Harrisburg, was the dinner speaker." County Agent Hoffman gave his report, excerpts from which are to be found in a separate article in this section.

The minutes also show that there was discussion on "increase of bounty on animal pests, such as weasel, fox and catamount."

Hold Farmers Day

October 20, 1921, the Farm Bureau joined with the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce for a Farmers Day in Gettysburg. Mr. Strausbaugh reported at the November 22 meeting of the executive committee that "everything worked out very pleasantly and a most successful Farmers Day was held."

The 1921 report by County Agent Hoffman showed a Two Taverns Poland China Hog Breeders Association had been formed and four other communities "seeing its success, also formed breeders association and 38 pure-bred hogs were brought into the county as a result."

His report also said, "One new Boys Pig Breeding Club was formed in 1921 in the same community that the Berkshire Breeders Association was formed. The Duroc-Jersey Breeding club of last year (1920) continued its work as did also the Poland-China Breeding club. The winner in the Duroc-Jersey Club stood fifth in the state."

Hoffman's 1921 report showed, "A large number of farmers keep poultry as a side line to their other farm operations. Many of them have found poultry to be a profitable asset."

"In order to further the improvement of poultry and increase the yearly production of eggs at lowest possible cost, a series of culling demonstrations were held on these same farms during the summer month to instruct them how to select the high producing hen from the non-producer. Many farmers attended these demonstrations and later culled their own flocks with the result that they are producing as many eggs with less hens and a lower feed cost."

Form Poultry Club

Formation of a Two Taverns Poultry Club was reported in which "several members procured pure-bred stock."

Homan reported in 1921: "The present low prices of farm products and the comparatively high prices of commercial fertilizer has caused the farmer to seek information as to the most economical method of fertilization." He added: "A number of farmers in several communities rebelled against the high prices for fertilizer, coal and feeds and decided to buy in large quantities cooperatively. In the fall Littlestown bought 300 tons of fertilizer cooperatively. The Barlow community also bought coal and feed in carload lots at a great saving."

This scene is typical of agricultural demonstrations on county farms carried out over the last 40 years by the county Extension Association. The program is designed to help the farmer learn how to do a better job of farming. One of its most effective ways is by demonstrating on the farm or orchard the results of various methods.

The 1921 report shows that arrangements were made with the U. S. Weather Bureau in Washington to have a telegraphic forecast of the weather each morning. "These reports were relayed to 160 fruit growers by telephone daily. The Farm Bureau office relayed the message to three growers by telephone in different sections of the county. Each of these men in turn called three others. These nine men then relayed the message in the same way and the whole service worked out very satisfactorily. The fruit growers are planning to carry out the same system the coming year."

Obtain Assistant Agent

Hoffman's work, visiting 471 farms, carrying on all types of instruction in the county showed the need for an assistant and on April 22, 1922, the minutes state: "Mr. Strausbaugh moved that we retain an assistant county agent permanently, second by Mr. Bream and making proper provision for the extra expense."

The report of the annual meeting December 14, 1922, shows that in 1921 a total of 161 meetings had been held with a total attendance of 50,548.

The report also says: "Mr. Weaver of State College gave a very able talk on problems with which the farmer is confronted. He brought out very plainly the fact that the farmer's dollar had receded to 64 per cent of what it had been in 1913, taking that year as a normal basis. Mr. Weaver brought out that in Adams county, alone, we lost $150,000 last year from low grade wheat."

Shenk Joins Staff

County agent Hoffman's report for 1922 shows S. B. Shenk as the assistant county agent. The report observed: "Adams county dairymen have been receiving less than market price for milk for years. During the past year, a rather organized campaign has been carried on to help this marketing situation. With the able assistance of committees of farmers in the different sections of the county, we have induced a milk company to enter the county that is paying the dairymen world's mittee accepted the resignation of Paul Hoffman as county agent "with regret" and at the same time accepted the appointment of R. E. Underwood as Hoffman's successor. At that same meeting "the advisability of a cow testing association was discussed."

Change Name In 1924

1923 also marked the beginning of plans to change the name of the organization from the Adams County Farm Bureau to the Adams County Agricultural Extension Association. W. E. Grove suggested the new name at the August 9, 1923, meeting of the executive committee. The name was formally adopted at the 1924 annual meeting of the association.

By 1923 the number of soil tests conducted by the county agent had increased — to 12.

A big event of 1923 was the "Farmers - Business Men's Twilight picnic." County Agent Underwood reported: "In connection with the visit of Levi P. Moore on tour of inspection of the Chester White Breeders of Pennsylvania, we held a Farmers Business Men's Twilight meeting on the farm of M. E. Knouse, near Brysonia, Wednesday evening, July 25. Mr. Knouse is the leading Chester White breeder of the Chester White Breeders Association in this county. The meeting was arranged in connection with the Chambers of Commerce of the county. Even the most sanguine expectations of the success of this first picnic were exceeded when over 1,200 persons gathered on Mr. Knouse's farm. Sandwiches and ice cream were served by the Chambers of Commerce. Mr. Cook, president of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, said that the spirit of cooperation and good will which was shown and the cordiality which was shown on every side had never been exceeded in any other affair in this county. All those present had the opportunity of seeing how Mr. Knouse raises his hogs by using hog pastures of rape and Canada field peas and the development of good thrifty individuals as a result of economical methods due to extension demonstrations and advice."

Get Good Potatoes

Hoffman's report in 1922 showed: "In 1921, our first year in potato work, we distributed 376 bushels of disease-free seed and in 1922 we distributed 1,550 bushels of disease-free seed and could have placed another carload had we been able to secure the seed."

Orchard work in 1922 was devoted mostly to the peach borer coding moth, leaf roller and curculio problems. For peach borer, experiments showed paradichlorobenzene efficient and economical for control. Comparison was made between sulphur and copper dust applications. Cooperative purchasing of fertilizer and feeds continued, and beef growers in the county formed a cooperative to purchase 515 head of cattle.

The South Mountain Fair came into existence in 1922. County Agent Hoffman reported: "Interest in community picnics and farm products shows in connection with them has been growing. One section of the county comprising three townships and three boroughs formed a fair association and put on a real show. The affair was so successful that the executive committee has already decided to have a two-day affair next year."

1922 also marked the sending of the first spray schedules by the county agent's office to the fruit growers of the county, although the matter is not mentioned in the annual report. The 1924 report, however, states that the custom of sending fruit spray schedules has been in operation two years.

County Agent Urges Dairy Herd Owners To Use "Weigh-A-Day" Plan To Check Milk Production

By FRANK S. ZETTEL
Adams County Farm Agent

As a dairyman, you'll have a better chance to make your dairy operation more efficient and profitable, when you enroll in a simple, new, low-cost plan for keeping your dairy production records. This program is known as the "Weigh-A-Day-a-Month" record keeping plan.

This is an opportunity for the dairyman who is not in a testing program now, not only to improve his production efficiency but through culling of low-producing cows, possibly to prevent some excess milk from reaching the market. To cull your herd intelligently, you must have accurate production information as a guide.

The plan is designed to supplement the fifty-year-old Dairy Herd Improvement Association program, under which a million and a half cows are being tested for milk and butterfat production and the Owner-Sampler program, under which nearly 400,000 cows are also being tested in the nation.

The new method simplifies your milk recording to the single item of weighing the milk output of each cow in your herd, morning and night, one day a month. You weigh the milk yourself, and no milk samples or butterfat tests are needed. You record the weights on a special form, which you mail to a central computing office. Your only cost is five dollars for five cows, plus sixty cents per cow per year and this covers calculation of your monthly milk production, the total production to date for each cow, and the yearly herd total to date. Calculations will also be made in the value of the product, total cost of feed, and income over feed cost for your herd.

Get Herd Summary

At the end of the year a yearly herd summary will also be calculated for you. The calculated records are returned to you each month for your use in culling out your low-producing cows, feeding each cow according to her production and selecting the best animals for raising your herd replacements.

A full half-century of production record keeping has repeatedly proven the value of the DHIA program as a means of increasing the efficiency of milk and butterfat production through herd improvement. In 1906, the first year in which DHIA operated, tested cows produced an average of about 5,300 pounds of milk and 215 pounds butterfat. Last year DHIA cows in Pennsylvania produced an average of almost 9,500 pounds of milk and over 375 pounds butterfat.

Dairy production records show conclusively that cost per unit of production moves steadily downward as milk yields increase per cow. Latest DHIA records show that a cow producing 5,000 pounds of milk annually returns an average over feed cost of only $116. In contrast, a cow making 11,000 pounds of milk annually shows a return over feed cost of $270.

Clean Spray Equipment

Rust and corrosion will shorten the life of your spraying and fertilizing equipment.

Prompt and thorough cleaning of this equipment at season's end will remove the corrosive materials. This will stretch the life of your equipment and insure that it will be in top shape for heavy use next year.

Spray tanks, pumps and piping need flushing, followed by thorough drainage. All oil and grease points should be lubricated.

Fertilizer applicators are cleaned most easily by using steam or a high pressure stream of clean, preferably hot, water. This dissolves and cuts out fertilizer residue.

A light spraying of metal parts with special rust-inhibiting oil is best to protect the surfaces until next season. Even kerosene will give fair protection.

The sooner these machines are conditioned after their use, the longer they will last and give good service.

November is a good time to make a note of repair needs. When ordering new parts for your sprayer, consider stainless steel. Vital parts, such as a nozzle orifices, inserts and tips, are now made of this corrosion resistant metal.

Do's and Don't's

DO . . . know that the most common pipe leak — which occurs at a joint — often can be eliminated merely by tightening the joint at that point, using only moderate force.

DO . . . when the joint is already tight and the leak persists, turn off the water to the line, unscrew the fitting, coat the threads with a pipe-joint compound and retighten.

DO . . . fix a leak along a length of pipe with a small wooden plug (such as a round toothpick,) a metal plug, iron cement, plastic steel, plastic aluminum or one of several other products designed to fill openings in metal.

DO . . . if a piece of rubber hose is available, halt small leaks by slipping the hose, coating the inside with water proof cement, wrapping the hose around the pipe and clamping with pipe clamps.

DON'T . . . make the common mistake of using a single wrench to tighten a fitting; use two wrenches one for holding and one for turning.

DON'T . . . overlook the fact that a hole in a pipe, especially when caused by corrosion, usually is an indication of future trouble at some other nearby spot.

DON'T . . . neglect to keep all shut-off valves correctly tagged, so that every member of the family (not just you) will be able to find the correct valve in an emergency.

Cardinal Spellman's Address At Mt. St. Mary's Convocation

"There is a precedent for that," explained Cardinal Spellman, "because last year I had the opportunity of leading a pilgrimage to the Eucharistic Congress in Rio de Janeiro. The cardinal archbishop honored me by inviting me to celebrate Mass at midnight and more than a million were expected. On the previous night the cardinal, the apostolic legate who presided at the Eucharistic Congress, spoke for an hour and a half in Portuguese. I felt that I should speak five or eight minutes in Portuguese. I practiced and rehearsed it. I was at the altar preparing for Mass about five minutes to 12 when the cardinal archbishop asked me to begin Mass. I told him that I had prepared a few words in Portuguese. He said that it was not expected. 'Expected or not, I said, I'm going to give it anyway as I can never give it in any other place.'

"I can't give my talk any other place than at Mt. St. Mary's nor can I save Mt. St. Mary's for any other occasion.

Venerate Founders' Memory
"Happy, indeed, am I to come to this historic Mount which has been hallowed by the memory of wonderful contributions to the Church in America. One can almost feel the presence of those brave pioneers who founded this college and seminary nearly 150 years ago. We venerate their memory and salute their courage and vision and we linger in admiration at the perseverance of their successors who carried on under the disheartening conditions they had to face as a result of the war between the states. We hail the resourcefulness of those dedicated priests who, down through the years, struggled against the terrible odds so that Mount St. Mary's might survive.

"In her present hour, well might Alma Mater look upon the contributions made by these devoted teachers and administrators and thank a Provident God for having given such men to her in her great hours to testing and trial. Rich is the history of Mount St. Mary's and deep is the debt the Church in America owes to her.

"To illustrate this, one need call only a brief roll of those graduates and those associated with her to see how deeply the church in America is indebted to Mount St. Mary's. 'Immediately there comes to mind Simon Brute, first bishop of Vincennes; William Quarles, first bishop of Chicago; Richard Whelan, first bishop of Wheeling; Francis Gartland, first bishop of Savannah; William McCloskey, bishop of Louisville; Francis Chataud, bishop of Vincennes; John B. Purcell, archbishop of Cincinnati; and Bishop Loughlin of Brooklyn.

"In a very special way, the Archdiocese of New York is indebted to Mount St. Mary's. Your first president, John Du Bois, became bishop of New York, and had been shepherd of that diocese for 16 years. His three immediate successors, the first three archbishops of New York, one of them the first American cardinal, were students of this college. Bishop Dubois' example in founding Mount St. Mary's was emulated by Archbishop Hughes, Cardinal McCloskey and Archbishop Corrigan in mothering respectively Fordham University, the Seminary at Troy and St. Joseph's Seminary in Dunwoodie, institutions which rank with Mount St. Mary's of the west in Cincinnati and Seton Hall University in Newark as devoted daughters of the Mountain.

Grateful For Honor
"Nearby, and bound by many ties with Mt. St. Mary's, Mother Seton established her Daughters of Charity and the Archdiocese of New York proudly acknowledges the great debt it owes to the manifold works they have contributed to its growth.

"Tucked away here in the quiet hills of Maryland it seems to me that Mount St. Mary's resembles the headquarters of a great river. Rising imperceptibly, their effect is neither noticed nor felt until they reach the broad plains below and carry on their crest the burdens of man. From this historic Mount, over the years, quietly and with humility a steady and important contribution has been made to the mainstream of Catholic life in our land.

"And so I am conscious of the recognition you have given me today and I assure you of my heartfelt gratitude and consider myself greatly honored to become an adopted son of the Mountain.

Shares Some Thoughts
"On this occasion of convocation may I share with you some thoughts which have preoccupied me during these past crucial months when we have seen the flickering fires of freedom, which we thought long since smothered, suddenly flare again in Hungary and Poland and expose in a brilliant if tragic light the unspeakable horror and tyranny of communism. Well may we speak of this in Maryland for here you breathe a native air of freedom. Yours is the proud distinction of being the first of the American colonies to establish by law the free exercise of religion — and this, let it be noted, was done under Catholic auspices. In this cradle of religious liberty in America we can well ponder upon that situation where more than one third of the world now finds itself with belief in God proscribed and His moral law repudiated in favor of the will of a dictator.

"You have known in this state that the guarantee of religious liberty can be turned back upon you and make you the subject of civil disabilities once you were no longer in power. What you guaranteed to others was denied to you later on and yet in the Providence of God you have enjoyed a second spring and the vigor of the Church in Maryland is at once a sign of hope for the world at large. The hand of God still fingers the pages of history. As we speak here today hands are being raised in violence against those who are weak in the things of this world but who are incomparably strong in the things of the spirit. Angry voices are being raised in judgment against those who will not give to Caesar what belongs to God. Instruments of torture are being invoked against those who will not disclaim Christ. It is a noble company they make, these followers of Christ who know how closely they stand to their King by reason of the suffering they undergo in His name. Of these brave souls well can the poet sing:

Renewed Inspiration

"Ah, see the fair chivalry come, the companions of Christ! White Horsemen, who ride on white horses, the Knights of God! They, for their Lord have sacrificed all, save the sweetness of treading where He first trod! These who were swept through the darkness of death, the dominion of night, woke in white places at morning tide: They saw with their eyes, and sang for joy of the sight, They saw with their eyes the Eyes of the Crucified.

"So long as there are these White Horsemen, unafraid of imprisonment and death, free men everywhere will draw renewed inspiration in their struggle against that tyranny which arrogates to Caesar the things which are God's. The Communist knows this. That is why he steps up his persecution — that is why he seeks to kill that inspiration which sustains his victims. But it is beyond his reach. It has its roots in another world — in a divine supernatural order which it is possible for evil men to ignore but never to destroy.

Man Is Made For God

"When we see men drawing plans for a stable and peaceful society without recognizing the limits that are set by the law of God, we know that they already labor under the pain of frustration and ultimate failure. All secular building of new worlds without reference to God and His place in the affairs of men becomes immediately reminiscent of the divided councils and insufficient cooperation which brought the Tower of Babel, man's first international venture, to naught.

"No one, therefore, should set out to talk about a new Europe or a new world without acknowledging this primary truth that man is made for God — that he is a religious and worshipping being, needing an altar at which to pray as much as he needs food and human companionship, with the only choice before him whether to worship the living God or false idols. To put revealed religion to one side as something historically present, but inconsequential is to keep the high altar for worship of something else — for the god of class or race or blood; and these are all jealous gods — gods of war brooking no opposition, demanding man's fullest allegiance.

No Surer Guarantee

"It is not too late in a world where freedom runs daily the threat of losing out in its battle with the forces of slavery to bear witness to the blessings of the Christian ideal among men and nations. The Christian ideal is no abstraction. It has its center in Christ, the Incarnate God. Because of His intervention in history, man has been given a new stature. He has been given freedom. The tyrant and political ruler can still enslave him by force of arms yet, after Christ, there is an area within man, holding for him its own precious secret far beyond the reach of any tyrant or ruler. It is a secret shared between himself and God — 'You shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free.' National racial or color lines no longer stand as a barrier to keep man from enjoying his dignity as a son of God. Against this universality of Christianity, the Communist classless society is the vaguest kind of caricature. Under the thrilling and dynamic force of Christianity the face of society has been changed. Not only has Christianity opened man's eyes out upon the natural world in which he lives, but it has fixed his gaze surely upon that supernatural world for which life on this earth is but a dim preparation.

"Here at Mount St. Mary's, for the past century and a half, the primacy of God in the affairs of man has been asserted as the first condition for free freedom. From this Mount graduates have gone forth into all walks of life, bearing witness to the truths, natural and supernatural, that they have learned here. No surer guarantee of liberty for our beloved country can you have than in holding fast to all that has been imparted to you in these halls of learning. I pray you be true to the great traditions of Mt. St. Mary's and be true also to the steady inspiration of the educational and spiritual ideals and ideas of the Mount which will help immeasurably in the vital work of proclaiming true liberty throughout the land."

RED RADIO SAYS HUNGARIANS ARE RESUMING WORK

VIENNA (AP)—Radio Budapest said today the Hungarian government's campaign to end the nationwide general strike had achieved "considerable success," but "terrorist groups" were keeping workers from their jobs in some places.

The radio gave no indication of the number of workers who returned to their jobs. It said only that a "large part" of the workers had "submitted." It appealed to workers who had not reported for work today to return to their jobs Monday.

The broadcast said "terrorists" fired on workers returning to their plants in one Budapest suburb.

Streetcar Men Balk

A later broadcast by the government-controlled station said drivers of the streetcar company in Budapest had refused to go back to work.

Radio Budapest has been conducting an intensive campaign in support of puppet Premier Janos Kadar's effort to get Hungarian factories and mines functioning again to forestall economic stagnation.

He reportedly achieved his first success yesterday with an agreement from a majority of leaders in the Budapest General Council of Workers that the general strike should be ended to prevent "national suicide."

Radio Budapest immediately began to call representatives of various factories to its microphones to appeal for a resumption of work today.

Some Hold Firm

Although the radio mentioned several Budapest sources where work was being resumed, it did not mention Csepel, the huge industrial area south of Budapest where workers bitterly fought Russian tanks during the rebellion.

The attitude of the workers there was expected to be an important factor in the continuation or conclusion of the general strike — the last weapon of the workers in their revolt against Soviet domination.

The workers had demanded that Imre Nagy, moderate Communist leader now a refugee in the Yugoslav Embassy, be returned to his post as premier before any general return to work took place.

MRS. COLEMAN

Yingling and Mrs. Harry Spangler was appointed.

Mrs. Buehler expressed her appreciation to the council for their "cooperative work" Mrs. Wiser, who has served as vice president, is finishing a four-year term as a council member, two years as the representative from the Eagles' Auxiliary and the remainder for the Fish and Game Auxiliary. A member may represent one organization for only two years, may come back for another two-year period as a representative of another group, and then must go off the council for at least a year. Mrs. Wiser served the Civic Council as chairman in charge of taking groups of women to the monthly meetings of the Town Council.

The Civic Council will not have a December meeting but will convene next on January 18. Following the business session a coffee hour was held, with Mrs. Wiser pouring. Assisting were Miss Lentz, Miss Verna Kitzmiller and Miss Violet Kidwell.

VETS BUY HOMES

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—California veterans were buying 58,924 homes and farms in mid-1956 under the Cal-Vet plan — the state's own GI home loan program.

The Department of Veterans Affairs said the low-interest loans represented almost one-half billion dollars in property transactions. Men and women who entered the service from California are eligible for loans.

Reds Offer To Discuss Ike's Bomb Plan At Summit Meet

By HAROLD K. MILKS

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union offered today to discuss President Eisenhower's "open skies" inspection plan at a new summit conference on disarmament. The proposed meeting of the Big Four and India would consider Soviet proposals including destruction of all H-bomb and A-bomb stockpiles and an end to nuclear bomb tests.

The Russians said Eisenhower's plan could be considered "for all NATO and Warsaw Pact countries."

The offer was accompanied by a declaration that the Soviet Union was now strong enough to take over "the whole of Western Europe without the use of rocket or nuclear weapons."

Premier Bulganin sent messages to President Eisenhower and the prime ministers of Britain, France, India and Communist China outlining the disarmament proposals.

He said the choice was between East-West agreement "and a new world war more terrible than any we have ever known."

In agreeing to examine Eisenhower's "open skies" plan, Bulganin said aerial inspection should be limited to an area 800 kilometers about 500 miles on either side of the border between NATO and Warsaw Pact countries, "subject to the approval of the individual nations."

Eisenhower proposed at the summit conference in Geneva in July 1955 that the Soviet Union and the United States exchange military blueprints of military installations and permit planes of both countries to make aerial inspections.

The Russians never have accepted the plan.

On Nuclear Weapons

On the nuclear weapons the Soviet Union made this proposal: "To ban H and A-bombs, their production and use, and to destroy all stocks, with an immediate ban on tests."

The Soviet Union has been plumping for a long time for an end to nuclear tests, and international agreement to ban nuclear weapons.

The West has insisted that strict international control measures must be imposed as a first condition.

Today's Bulganin message said the Russians wanted to "establish strict international control to insure that these (disarmament) proposals are carried out."

Blasts 3 Nations

Bulganin's message contained blasts at the British, French and Israelis for the invasion of Egypt, and said this has resulted in "serious weakening, not only of the political but also of the military strategic positions" of Britain and France in Europe, and of the entire North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

These were the Soviet disarmament proposals—most of them offered before in one way or another to be discussed at a summit conference "in view of the failure of the U.N. Disarmament Commission."

1. "The armed forces of the U.S.S.R., the United States, and China should be reduced within two years to 1½ million men each while the forces of Britain and France should be cut to 650,000 each and those of other nations to 100,000 to 150,000. As a first step the United States, China and the Soviet Union should cut their forces to 2½ million and Britain and France to 750,000.

2. A complete ban on atomic and hydrogen weapons of war. Discontinuance of their production, complete destruction of stockpiles, and an immediate halt of all tests of nuclear weapons.

3. A reduction by one-third in 1957 of the armed forces of the

GIRL WITNESS IS BEING HELD ON MORALS COUNT

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A girl witness is being held on a morals charge in the investigation of a teen-age vice ring in the Philadelphia area.

She was identified as Maxine Milder, 18, of Philadelphia. It was the first time one of the some dozen teen-age witnesses who have appeared during the probe has been held.

Judge William F. Dannehower held Miss Milder on $500 bail in Montgomery County Court yesterday after the girl testified against Dr. A. Samuel Manstein. Judge Dannehower turned down the 43-year-old Philadelphia physician's plea for a writ of habeas corpus and ordered him held in $500 bail.

The girl, in her testimony, said she was taken to the estate of James and Cornelius Worden in suburban Montgomery County last June. There, the witness testified, she committed immoral acts with Dr. Manstein and Worden.

After holding Dr. Manstein, the jurist said:

"Concerning Miss Milder, here is a girl who is 18½ years old. She is not getting out of here after admitting immoral acts with Dr. Manstein and Worden. I am holding her in $500 bail.

TEEN-AGERS' MANNERS CAUSE CONSTERNATION

The Associated Press

"Most young people today (and my own are no exception) have atrocious manners," writes a disillusioned parent. "And it is pitiful they aren't aware of how much harm they do themselves or other people."

How much harm is done by bad manners?

A mother relates that she has been brought to tears by the actions of a daughter. On one occasion daughter barged into the house with a group of friends and asked her mother and her friends to leave the living room!

A teacher tells how she has been told over and again to mind her own business by a number of spoiled girls in her class. "You can't do anything about it," she says, "because even a parent who understands the problem will rush to the school board and complain if you reprimand their grown-up brats."

Root Of Trouble

Is money the root of the trouble, asks one parent.

"Young people make too much money for their own good," he says. "Unlike the last generation, they're not putting the money into the family kitty."

One parent says his young man saved up on an after school job, bought himself a jalopy, and then presented his father with the bills for school tuition, books and clothes.

School girls are wearing horrible dresses in an effort to be sophisticated, one mother says. When she was shocked by the fit and depth of the neckline plunge, her daughter responded with "I bought this with my own money, so why don't you mind your own business."

What can you do when she's all ready to go out? the mother wails.

United States, Britain and France in Germany.

4. A considerable reduction in 1957 of the forces of the United States, France and Britain in the NATO countries and of Soviet Union forces in the Warsaw treaty countries.

5. Liquidation within two years of all foreign army, navy, and air force bases in other countries.

6. A corresponding reduction in armaments expenditure.

EGYPT WANTS TO LIMIT SCOPE OF U.N. POLICE FORCE

By EDWIN SHANKE

CAIRO (AP)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld pressed negotiations with Egyptian officials today on the role of the new international police force forming in the Suez Canal zone.

Egypt showed every indication of sticking to its announced determination not to let the U.N. force take over occupation of the canal. The government-backed newspaper Al-Gumhuriya stressed again that conditions for permitting the U.N. troops into the country must insure "our sovereign rights."

Hammarskjöld met with Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi behind closed doors this morning. Whatever progress he made in securing Egyptian approval for his view of the U.N. force's mission was not disclosed. Informants would say only that the negotiations were "extremely delicate."

Want Troops To Leave

The U.N. secretary general talked with President Nasser immediately after his arrival yesterday by plane.

Al-Gumhuriya called once more for immediate withdrawal of British, French and Israeli forces. The semi-official paper said:

"Where do we stand? What are the functions of the international police force and what is likely to happen in the near future. Cease-fire but no withdrawal of invading forces."

Al-Gumhuriya said Egypt "insisted that the task of the international force should be confined to control over withdrawal of the invading forces."

"Egypt," it added, "will remain quite prepared from a military point of view to foil any attempt at renewed aggression by the treacherous enemy."

Young people are rude to each other.

One young girl observed telling a friend that her shoes were the cheapest looking pair she'd ever seen, was appalled when questioned about it. "Well, they were," she countered, not realizing that even if she had been asked to give her opinion her appraisal should have been tempered.

Insulted And Hurt

The girl who'd been insulted was hurt as it turned out, but when asked about it replied:

"Oh, I don't mind her. She's afraid to be nice because people will suspect she is soft."

Does this generation pride itself on being hard boiled? Or is this independence the result of working and earning a good income?

A father has this to say:

"The last generation slaved to make a few pennies in the wheat fields or in a factory to help out a family. That taught them responsibility. But today's young people are only working greedily to corral more choice morsels for themselves. They're getting more egotistical and righteous every day."

It doesn't cost anything to give a verbal bouquet occasionally, to help out on the family groceries, to inflate Mom's ego by consulting her about clothes, to hold your tongue when any elder makes suggestions or offers criticism. If so many people are miserable because young people lack that kind of respect, why not give "being nice" a whirl?

tion she pay $100 for the use of the county and the cost and "stay away from Junior Myers." Mrs. Pierce was arrested when Myers fled from the custody of Deputy Sheriff James Warren following a court session in September and was found at the home of Mrs. Pierce's parents.

Mrs. Pierce told the court she had told state police that Myers was not a her home because they "didn't ask me right." She is the mother of two children, aged 4 and 2½.

Student Is Fined

George G. Potter Jr., aged 19, Bridgeport, a Gettysburg College Junior, was given a suspended sentence for one year on condition he pay $100 for the use of the county, pay the cost and that his driver's license be suspended for one year on a charge of stealing a battery from an automobile. The Gettysburg College chaplain, a vice president of the Bridgeport Bank and a local ROTC officer appeared before the court to speak of Potter's good character and abilities. Judge W. C. Sheely said, "This matter of stripping cars is becoming a very serious thing. It is getting near the point that cars cannot be left parked along the street. The court considers the matter very serious and also wishes to give notice that the public must understand that the court cannot be approached privately concerning any defendant subject to sentence as has been the case for this defendant."

Muncy Man Fined

Sentence of Gene A. Kreger, 23-year-old New Oxford gasoline operator, on a charge of larceny of four hub caps, was suspended on condition he pay $100 for the use of the county and the cost and that his driver's license be suspended for one year. Kreger's pastor and other witnesses said they believe that the death of Kreger's wife a month before the incident in an automobile accident may have caused him to be so upset, that he accompanied another man and two juveniles when they stole the hub caps.

George Edward Weaver, 30, Muncy R. 2 farmer, truck driver and milk collection route operator, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and cost on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants. Weaver held that the 30 days in jail would cost him $2,000 because he had no one to operate his farm and other businesses. The court told him that a man in his position should be more careful about drinking and driving.

Fined $150, Costs

Henry R. Leatherman, Gettysburg R. 2, charged with driving after his license was suspended, was given a suspended sentence and ordered to pay $150 for the use of the county and the costs. The same sentence was imposed on Frederic D. LeCron, Spring Grove R. 1, who also faced the court on a charge of operating after suspension.

At the request of the attorney for John C. Cole, Orrtanna R. D., who said that additional information can be given later, sentence of Cole and James H. Ritchie, 50, Railroad St., on charges of larceny, violation of the uniform firearms act and malicious mischief to property was deferred. The two men were directed to post bail for appearance at the call of the district attorney.

The court granted Richard Franklin Deatrick, Gettysburg R. 4, a divorce from Lois Marie (Hershey) Deatrick, Hanover, on grounds of desertion.

RUSSIANS MAKE NEW MACHINE

MOSCOW (AP)—Russian scientists have perfected an automatic translating machine which operates by electronics. It was demonstrated at a meeting of the Sciences Academy on Scientific Problems of Industrial Automation. A text in English was teletyped from the conference hall to a nearby institute, translated into Russian by the machine, and flashed back to the delegates.

also seated in the orchestra section. Students from the Mount were seated in bleachers to the right of the rostrum. The seminary choir and the college glee club were seated in sections at the left. Other guests were in the bleachers and in the main auditorium area. Ferns and potted plants were used to decorate the rostrum, front and rear. The American flag and the flag of Maryland were placed at the sides of the podium by four members of Detachment 2141 S.U., Fort Ritchie, Md.

From the moment of his arrival until his departure Cardinal Spellman was the center of attraction. He appeared restful, relaxed and happy and apparently enjoyed the program of events. "He is the most relaxed person in this crowd," one student remarked. He applauded vigorously after the Seminary Schola Cantorum sang the processional, "Ecce Sacerdos Magnus" and again when it sang "No Man Is An Island." And when the college band played the National Anthem, Cardinal Spellman stood at rigid attention and held his red biretta in his right hand over his heart. At its close his eyes were dimmed. He is well recognized for intense patriotism. He is the military vicar of the U. S. Armed Forces, appointed by the Pope. He has spent the past three Christmas seasons with American troops in Korea.

Poses For Photographs

After he had received his honorary degree and delivered his address he pronounced benediction upon the audience, stepped from the podium and walked directly to Monsignor Sheridan and vigorously shook his hand. When he left the rostrum with the college president they obligingly waited at the steps for some time to permit photographers to take pictures.

At the informal luncheon for the distinguished guests, Cardinal Spellman was dressed in the conventional black with his customarily knee-length black frock coat. He was given a warm ovation and stopped scores of times to shake hands with guests entering and leaving the dining room. Many kissed his ring.

Later in the afternoon, upon his request, he visited Saint Joseph College, founded by Mother Seton. He had said earlier in the day that he wanted to visit her tomb.

Visited Eisenhower

When he walked onto the porch of the administration building another group was present, the press corps. Monsignor Sheridan introduced the reporters and photographers. When he was introduced to a reporter for The Gettysburg Times Cardinal Spellman perked up and said: "Oh, yes. Why I saw President Eisenhower yesterday. He certainly looks wonderful. And by the way, the first money I ever earned was when I was in school in Massachusetts. I entered an essay contest and wrote an essay on 'Pickett's Charge at Gettysburg.' I won first prize and $10. The judge of the contest was the secretary of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. And do you know I have not toured the Gettysburg Battlefield and I have not seen the place where Pickett made his charge. But I intend to, someday."

A Baltimore reporter asked the cardinal if he could see his ring. "Why certainly young man," the prelate said, displaying the ring. It is a heavy yellow gold band with a large pale blue star sapphire surrounded by small diamonds. On the two shanks are engraved the coat of arms of the cardinal.

Visits Mother Seton Tomb

At Saint Joseph College Cardinal Spellman received a rousing ovation. He was welcomed by Sister Hilda, president of the school, and with other Sisters of Charity and monsignori visited the "White House," the Stone House where Mother Seton, founder of the order, lived when she established the school, the tomb of Mother Seton and other areas.

When he started to leave the school all the students and the nuns lined the tree-shaded driveway from the main building to the highway. When Cardinal Spellman saw this tribute he had his car stopped, alighted, removed his hat and walked the length of the driveway bowing, smiling, and waving to the girls and the Sisters. At the end of the driveway, he turned around for a final glimpse, wiped his eyes with his handkerchief, stepped into his car and was driven away.

Stalin-Era Police Terror Drove Poles Insane In 7 Days, Red Committee Told

By COLIN FROST
WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Victims of Stalin-era police terror in Poland were driven insane after only seven days of interrogation and others feigned lunacy to escape, an official Communist document disclosed.

Leon Wudski, a member of the Central Committee of the Polish Communist party, made the disclosure in a speech to the October meeting of the committee—the session that produced the crisis with Moscow over the demands of Polish Communists for independence from the Kremlin.

The 300,000 copies of the official record of the session were sold out by newstands within an hour after they were published this week.

Bitter On Berman
In his speech Wudski turned bitterly upon Jacob Berman, former overlord of the secret police, who was forced to resign as deputy premier and Politburo member last May because of his "mistakes." He had been considered the No. 1 man of former Premier Boleslaw Bierut, who died last March.

Wudski also assailed Roman Zambroski, still a member of the Polish Politburo; Hilary Minc, who resigned as vice premier on Oct. 1; and Gen. Franciszek Jozwiak-Witold, whose office of vice premier was abolished Oct. 24. Minc and Jozwiak-Witold were Central Committee members who were accused of ushering in the terror.

Pretended Insanity
"People were being kidnapped in the street and freed after seven days of interrogation in a condition unfit for life," Wudski said in describing police methods.

"These people had to be taken to a work asylum. Others took asylum in Tworki to evade the U.B. (secret police). They pretended to be mentally deficient."

"Others, decent people filled with fear and panic, escaped abroad solely to evade our system."

"The Whole Town Knew"
Wudski attacked Berman, who held the meeting "horrible things could take place under my nose without my knowing about them."

Said Wudski: "The whole of Warsaw knew people were being murdered."

"The whole town knew of narrow dungeons in which people stood for three weeks in their own excreta, six inches deep.

"The whole town knew that Rozanski (head of the notorious 10th Dept. of U.B.) personally tore off nails from people's fingers."

Tells Of Anne Duracz
"The whole town knew cold water was poured over people and then they were made to stand in bitter frost."

"The whole town knew, but Comrade Berman did not know." Wudski also spoke of Anne Duracz, Berman's onetime secretary.

She was jailed as an acquaintance of Noel Field, an American who was arrested behind the Iron Curtain on spy charges which later were withdrawn.

"For two years," said Wudski, "this girl's family knocked at your door, Comrade Berman, trying to free Anne."

Blames Doctrine
"Did you not know how she was being treated?"
"You, who should have been first to know of these things?"

Wudski said he himself spent months trying to see Poland's "Little Stalin" Bierut, and Zambroski. They refused to see him. Yet, he said, even in Poland's "semi-Fascist prewar regime" he had been able to talk with ministers and get them to use influence on behalf of political prisoners.

Wudski blamed the terror regime on the Stalinist doctrine that the Communist party was more important than men.

Could Have Been Changed
"The system could have been changed by sensible men," he said. "I should like to believe there were Communists in whom moral restraint continued to function; who, even if they had not the courage to oppose, could at least behave like men."

"Alas, some couldn't. Some didn't want to. Those who did oppose were flung into jail and branded as enemies and traitors."

"But the majority went with the tide of the system."

Powell Proteses Lose Their Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two House of Representatives employees hired under the patronage of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.) have lost their jobs.

Powell, Negro congressman who was re-elected Nov. 6 to a seventh term, jumped party lines to support re-election of President Eisenhower.

Rep. Sheppard (D-Calif.), a member of the House Democratic Patronage Committee which dismissed the two employees, said last night:

"The patronage committee is responsible for taking care of Democrats."

SEEKS REFUGE AFTER FLEEING COMMY BOSSES

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — A Romanian legation chauffeur today sought refuge for his family in Argentina after a dramatic struggle to break away from his Communist bosses.

A clamoring crowd of Argentines helped the fleeing couple obtain the release of their 11-month-old son from the legation.

George Coman, 31, said he and his family looked forward to living out there lives here. With some surprise in his voice, he added:

Gained Son's Release
"I have already had offers of work."

The crowd that gathered around the legation after hearing of Coman's escape was instrumental in securing the freedom of Coman's son, held in the legation when the remainder of the family broke away. The demonstrators set up loud chants of "Let the child go."

This is the story:
"Coman, his wife and two boys were being returned to Bucharest after their tour of duty here. As they entered a legation car yesterday to be driven to the airport, the parents and their 4-year-old son bolted."

Police Helped
The 11-month-old younger son was left behind in the mixup. Coman hailed a passing police car. Legation guards tried to stop them. The police joined the struggle and got Coman and the older boy into their car.

Mrs. Coman went back to the legation for the baby while Coman sought asylum for the family.

She said she was dragged inside the legation building and Anton Moiseuc, the Romanian minister, struck her.

Consider Asylum Plea
Mrs. Coman broke away, locked herself in a bathroom, escaped through its window and rejoined her husband.

The news spread, and a crowd assembled at the legation, chanting "Let the child go."

The legation then released the child to Argentine foreign ministry officials.

The Argentine government was considering the family's plea for political asylum.

Said Wudski, "Under this theory, a human being became a negligible item. Every party member had to get rid of all human feeling even when the most terrible crimes were committed."

WARNINGS AND TIPS FOR YOUR THANKSGIVING

UNIVERSITY PARK — Don't save time by partially roasting your Thanksgiving turkey the day before you serve your dinner.

Ruth L. Godfrey, associate professor of hotel and institution administration at the Pennsylvania State University, says partially cooking a turkey or the stuffing, either separately or together, and then completing it later, can result in food poisoning.

"The short cooking process serves only to raise the internal temperature of the stuffed bird to a degree which is particularly favorable for the multiplication of food-poisoning bacteria," Miss Godfrey says.

Some Time Savers
Miss Godfrey offers the following suggestions for those who want to save time in cooking a turkey, whether for a large group at a church supper or for a family dinner:

Measure and prepare dry ingredients and store in covered container at room temperature. Measure and refrigerate the liquid ingredients. Combine the two and stuff the bird immediately before placing it in a pre-heated oven where it is roasted until done.

A meat thermometer, she says, is the only method to determine that the stuffing has reached the 165 to 180 degree F. temperature necessary to kill bacteria. It should be placed between the first and second ribs of the turkey, directed toward the center of the stuffing.

Miss Godfrey also recommends allowing the turkey to stand 20 minutes after removing it from the oven which permits a post-oven rise of internal temperature and also makes carving easier.

Sometimes the uncomfortable feeling that follows a holiday dinner is not the result of eating too much, Miss Godfrey says. It is a touch of food-poisoning that results from improper preparation of the turkey.

Tells Psychiatrist He'd Better See One
REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Superior Judge Edmund Scott told psychiatrist Walter J. Grant: "Maybe you had better see a psychiatrist and get yourself straightened out. You are not handling your affairs properly."

Grant had asked the judge to reduce support payments to his wife and daughter from $333 a month to $135. He said he made $1,800 a month but had equal expenses.

DOCKWORKERS' STRIKE SPREADS ALONG COASTS

NEW YORK (AP) — A spreading dockworkers' strike hit more Atlantic and Gulf ports today and sparked "sympathy" walkouts on the West Coast.

At midnight last night longshoremen struck at Miami and Port Everglades, Fla. Others were due to walk out at Tampa later today.

The new strikers joined more than 60,000 members of the International Longshoremen's Assn. who deserted docks from Maine to Texas yesterday.

150 Ships Idled
More than 150 ships — a third of them in New York — were idled. Union officials called the strike "100 per cent effective."

Negotiators for the I.L.A. and the New York Shipping Assn. agreed to sit down again today in an effort to settle their wage contract dispute. The association speaks for 170 shopping and stevedoring firms.

While contract talks continued, the shipping paralysis began to creep into West Coast ports. The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union tied up a dozen ships in support of the strike.

Ports To Close
Seven ships were idle at Los Angeles, three at San Francisco, and one each at Coos Bay, Ore., and Longview, Wash.

And at Los Angeles, an official of the Pacific Maritime Assn. said the I.L.W.U. notified him it plans to shut down West Coast ports for 24 hours starting at 8 a.m. Monday.

In Washington government officials expressed fear the widespread waterfront dispute might further darken a world shipping crisis precipitated by the closing of the Suez Canal.

A well-informed official said the government had no thought "for the time being" of invoking the Taft-Hartly law and halting the strike by court injunction.

OPINIONS FROM WEST CAPITALS ON SITUATION IN MIDDLE EAST

Editor's Note — Three experienced Associated Press correspondents here summarize the opinions of officials and observers in the capitals of the Western Big Three on the Egyptian situation.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The British-French invasion of Egypt is considered in U. S. official quarters to have produced results little short of disastrous. Whether the results prove to be a total disaster depends on the final outcome, which is not yet clear.

The operation apparently was designed to serve two major purposes and was based on at least one major assumption.

The purposes were (1) to regain physical control of the Suez Canal and (2) to undermine Egyptian President Nasser. The assumption was that the operation could be carried off without direct military intervention by the Soviet Union. Probably Britain and France also assumed that when the chips were down, they would have the political support or at least the passive approval of the United States.

The Present Situation
As seen here, this is now the situation:

The British and French have not gained physical control of the canal. Under threat of Soviet intervention with military force and under strong demands from the United Nations for a cease-fire, they had to halt their military operations within hours after he troops landed.

Nasser may not be stronger than he was before British and French warplanes began bombing his airfields and military installations, but there is no evidence that he is weaker. He rallied a tremendous segment of world opinion to his side. Even the U. S. government felt compelled to denounce the attack on Egypt by its closest allies.

The Western alliance was split over an issue of vital importance. Only the Soviet Union stands to profit.

One Possible Gain
Russia itself has been given a new opportunity for wooing Arab good will and for gaining a military foothold in the area, through the much talked of dispatch of "volunteers" to assist Egypt.

Furthermore, the whole structure of political relationships in the area, including the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact anchored on Iraq and Turkey with Britain as the strongest member, has been badly shaken and in some degree wrecked by the attack on Egypt.

The one positive gain which could come out of the Middle East crisis is the strengthening of the United Nations if it averts a much greater war and takes effective steps for permanent settlement of the Middle Eastern problems. But whether it can do that remains to be seen.

LONDON (AP) — The British-French invasion of Egypt will change the course of history, but only time can show just how. Some new factors on the scene have still to be evaluated. That is the general belief in London. On the face of it, the Russians now look stronger in the Middle East. The Arab world has seen two Western nations, long distrusted by many Arabs, invade a leading Arab state. And Russia has pictured itself as the big brother whose threats brought the attack to a quick halt.

But most Arab leaders have an ingrained hatred of communism. Some have kept a wary eye on Gamal Abdel Nasser, the dynamic young Egyptian president who dreams of leading an Arab empire.

Nasser on the surface seems stronger. In Arab eyes, he stood up to Western invaders and their attack was called off. But he lost face by losing the Gaza Strip to Israel. If Arab leaders can be convinced that to further his own political ambitions he exposed the entire Middle East to the threat of Soviet domination, his prestige could wither and die.

Has the attack weakened British ties with the free world, including members of the British Commonwealth? Opinion in the United States and the Asian commonwealth members—India, Pakistan and Ceylon—reacted sharply against the assault. But British leaders hope the decision to attack soon will be accepted as fully justified. There have already been signs of some shift of American opinion.

NO TRESPASSING
All persons are warned not to trespass on the premises of the undersigned with dog, gun or trap for the purpose of taking game in any manner or for fishing or any way injuring or destroying property. All persons violating the laws of the Commonwealth with regard to trespassing on land of the undersigned will be dealt with under the provision of the Act of June 24, 1939, P.L. 872, Section 854.

PLEADS GUILTY TO STRANGLING OF SOCIALITE

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—Bar-tender William E. Boswell pleaded guilty Thursday to second-degree murder in the strangling of Mrs. Anne Van Ryne, 22-year-old Philadelphia socialite.

Boswell, 39, was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

Jack Streeter, defense attorney, called the killing a "crime of heavy drinking."

Cameron Batjer, the district attorney, said the state's case was built on circumstantial evidence and it probably would have been impossible to prove premeditation, necessary for a first-degree conviction.

Husband In Jail

Mrs. Van Ryne's body was found last May, stuffed into a closet at Boswell's apartment. She had been strangled with the belt of a house coat. She was pregnant.

The daughter of J. Andrews Harris, Gwynedd Valley, Pa., and Elizabeth Flagler Harris of Chestnut Hill, Pa., came to Nevada in 1954 and divorced John Francis de Vinney of Ardmore, Pa.

In 1955, she returned to Nevada and married Thomas W. Van Ryne, 39. Van Ryne was in jail at Los Angeles on a bad check conviction when his wife was slain. He is still in jail.

Boswell was arrested at the home of his estranged wife at

REACH ACCORD AT CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze expects Cleveland's three major daily newspapers, which haven't printed since Nov. 1, to resume publication Monday, if the Typographical Union membership approves a tentative wage agreement reached early Friday in talks at City Hall.

Representatives of the Typographical Union and the publishers of the three papers—the Press, Plain Dealer and News—reached agreement in a meeting that broke up shortly before 1 a.m. in the mayor's office.

Middlebury, Vt., May 27, three days after the body was found. In his possession were her personal papers.

"This wraps it up as far as I'm concerned," said the tired mayor, who entered the dispute as mediator last Nov. 7. Yesterday the Cleveland Newspaper Guild approved new contracts with all three papers, accepting terms proposed by the mayor.

The typographical agreement, which provides wage boosts of $4.50 per week retroactive to Oct. 1 and an additional $3.50 in the second year of the two-year contract — will be voted on by the membership at a meeting Sunday. The contract would cover 520 composing room employees at the three papers. It would provide for arbitration of the union's claim for pay for the idle time between Nov. 1 and resumption of publication.

The agreement with the Guild, which represents a total of about 700 editorial and commercial workers, provides for wage increases of from $4 to $6.50 the first year, and $2.50 across the board in the second year of the contract.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today set pedaled its campaign to raise "volunteers" to fight in Egypt. But the question of Soviet manpower for the Middle East may be raised again.

For a solid week newspapers and the radio were filled with appeals for fighters against "aggression" and reports of hundreds of thousands willing to join the Egyptian forces.

But Friday's newspapers were almost devoid of any mention of volunteers.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru said Friday the U.N. resolution calling for free elections in Hungary would block Soviet withdrawal from that country and might risk a bigger war with greater suffering for the Hungarian people.

He indicated he also feared such action might give support to Pakistan's demands for a plebiscite

BLAST AT YORK ROCKS OFFICES

YORK, Pa. (AP)—An explosion Friday demolished the newly opened office building of Bon Ton Foods, Inc., on the western outskirts of York. No one was injured.

The cinder block building, faced with bricks, was opened just three weeks ago. The nine employees of the office had not yet reported to work at the time of the explosion. Guy Becker, plant foreman, said he noticed a flame at the end of a service line that feeds natural gas into a gas-water heater in a false-type cellar underneath the building.

An investigation was started by the York County Gas Co. to determine if the flaming gas caused the explosion.

J. P. Cook, vice president of the company which makes potato chips, said the loss would amount to between $40,000 and $50,000 and operations would be moved to the firm's former office building until the demolished structure is rebuilt.

Walls of the new building were pushed out by the explosion and the roof was ripped apart and thrown to the ground. The adjacent manufacturing plant was not damaged.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Olin B. Johnston (D-S.C.) said Friday he will urge the United Nations to hear two Hungarian freedom fighters' stories of the bloody crushing of their revolution by Soviet troops.

Johnston presided at a Senate Internal Security subcommittee hearing yesterday at which a masked Hungarian refugee related that Soviet tank fire mowed down demonstrators at Parliament House in Budapest Oct. 24, and left "600 killed and wounded."

Young Man Dies In Auto Crash

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—James Suber, 21, 912 Poplar St., Coatesville, Pa., was killed early Friday when the car in which he was riding went over an embankment.

Suber and the other three occupants of the car were driving home from a roller skating party. The driver, George L. Smith, 21, 582 Coates St.; Lindsay Dantzer, 21, 918 Poplar St.; and Frank Burrows, 19, 409 Prospect Ave., all of Coatesville, were treated for minor injuries and released at Lancaster General Hospital.

Smith told police he swerved to avoid a collision with another car on the Lampeter road as they approached Lincoln Highway. The car went out of control, skidding 150 feet before going over the embankment.

Airline, en route from Panama to Mexico City, carried 20 passengers and a crew of five.

One of the dead was carried on the passenger list as Fed McNeil, identified in Panama as an American of about 50. His address was not known.

There was no immediate word on what caused the four-engined DC4 to crash in flames near the resort town of Salina Grande.

The honeymooners were Marta Osegueda, daughter of the Salvadoran ambassador to Panama, and Rogelio Alvarez, member of a prominent Panamanian family. They had been married Thursday morning.
